Glib Fibs From Both Parties Got You Clinging to Religion and Grabbing Your Gun?

Will Durst Is Your Equal Opportunity Offender

For years, Will Durst has been preaching that Americans need to take a "common sense" approach to politics, one that isn't red or blue, but truly bipartisan. His new book, The All-American Sport of Bipartisan Bashing: Common Sense Rantings From a Raging Moderate, takes jabs at both the party of no ideas and the party of bad ideas.

Q: Why "Bipartisan Bashing"?

A: We're so polarized these days, I'm surprised our compasses still work. They should be stuck on due daft. To paraphrase Reagan speaking about the Democratic Party: I didn't leave the center, the center left me.

Q: How has the Bush administration affected this?

A: Bush attached a rocket booster to the edge of the center and shot it so far west of Texas you can't see it anymore due to the curvature of the earth.

Q: What do you think of the Clintons?

A: $12 million for Bill Clinton's memoirs and $8 million for Hillary's. That's $20 million for the recollections of two people who for eight years continually testified, under oath, that they couldn't remember a single thing.

At least the liberal left and the conservative right agree on one thing: Will Durst. Air America Radio calls Durst "one of the greatest commentators of all things political," and Fox News Radio hails him as "a great political satirist! One of the funniest guys around!"
